59	Palo Alto Baylands ... proximity, parking available, restroom and water rinse station, safe, beautiful location	Apr 13, 2012 8:28 AM
60	Fort Baker. From the base of the Golden Gate there are so many kinds of water to access and many destinations.	Apr 13, 2012 7:53 AM
61	Berkeley Marina, South docks (Cal Sailing Club area). Because it hosts the best (and lowest-cost) non-profit access-enhancing organization. (Sometimes the social/cultural architecture is more important than the geography and the physical details.) And this is a gaping flaw in the water trail design: There is no explicit provision for new non-profits supporting new access-enhancing non-motorized boating activities and locations.	Apr 13, 2012 1:19 AM
62	Petaluma basin	Apr 12, 2012 10:19 PM

66	Treasure Island, great wind, swell , and scenary	Apr 12, 2012 9:26 PM
67	3rd avenue. The swell in the channel is the best!	Apr 12, 2012 9:00 PM
68	San Leandro - KEEP ON DREDGING OUT CHANNEL!!!!!!!	Apr 12, 2012 8:29 PM
69	Redwood City Harbor Entrance, Seaport Blvd End, NW grass area luanch. I like it because of good wind, flat water and access to open bay	Apr 12, 2012 8:05 PM
70	Petaluma - close to home	Apr 12, 2012 8:04 PM
71	Crissy Field because it is windy and beautiful.	Apr 12, 2012 6:19 PM
72	North Bay Rowing Club (Petaluma) - because the Petaluma River is ideal for rowing, and a beautiful setting with abundant natural elements	Apr 12, 2012 5:54 PM
73	Petaluma River sites: close to home for me, rarely crowded, beautiful wetlands	Apr 12, 2012 5:40 PM
74	China Camp; facility is good and scenery is beautiful.	Apr 12, 2012 4:44 PM
75	Foundry Wharf	Apr 12, 2012 4:42 PM
76	Since I'm a member of NBRC my favorite site to date is our dock, but I plan to purchase 2 kayaks and will then have to explore many launch sites.	Apr 12, 2012 4:34 PM
77	Angel Island	Apr 12, 2012 4:20 PM
78	Sherman Island county park. Still really wild, undeveloped, limited parking (which limits the crowd).	Apr 12, 2012 3:52 PM
79	Grant Street - Alameda Its clean, secure, and free	Apr 12, 2012 3:29 PM
80	Scoonmacher Sausalito, heads, lots of choices, and easy launch. Could use more parking.	Apr 12, 2012 2:21 PM
81	Treasure Island. Best windsurfing site on the bay, bar none.	Apr 12, 2012 2:15 PM
82	Tresure Island	Apr 12, 2012 12:47 PM
83	Candlestick - Proximity to home, dependable wind and less tide dependency.	Apr 12, 2012 12:34 PM
84	Third Ave Kite and Windsurf launch in Foster City because the wind is consistantly good	Apr 12, 2012 12:21 PM

88	Redwood City	Apr 12, 2012 10:09 AM
89	Redwood City Marina. Can launch on any tide level without concern for current	Apr 12, 2012 10:02 AM or running out of water. Protected so wind concerns minimal, but you can still get out to the larger Bay for longer paddles. Restrooms and low docks make it easy. Enough small boaters around for help if ever were needed. Minimal issues with too many/too fast motor boats. Can take novices/beginners there to give them a good feel for kayaking, and in a low risk environment.

90	BIAC	Apr 12, 2012 9:50 AM
91	beach just north of coyote point/animal shelter due to its nice beach for rigging gear, nice sandy bottom when tide is high enough to carry gear out and launch. Parking is also not a problem and is free.	Apr 12, 2012 9:48 AM
92	San Leandro Marina, because I learned there when I lived in Hayward and it was one of the only places to get to the water.	Apr 12, 2012 9:46 AM
93	larkspur marsh, best wind	Apr 12, 2012 9:45 AM
94	Bair Island	Apr 12, 2012 4:43 AM
95	Third avenue, due to the reliable wind and swell in the shipping channel. It is also more convenient than many other sites due to traffic.	Apr 11, 2012 9:43 PM
96	access	Apr 11, 2012 7:42 PM
97	Alviso Marina Access to the south bay	Apr 11, 2012 7:20 PM
98	My home launch site (Bair Island Aquatic Center); my favorite destination is Corkscrew Slough (although I don't land there, just row through there)	Apr 11, 2012 7:03 PM
99	Coyote Point for easy access to water, showers, windsurfing store, restrooms, plenty of parking, family activities	Apr 11, 2012 6:32 PM
100	Crissy Field, best sailing, best access, most social	Apr 11, 2012 6:23 PM
101	Treasure Island. Frequently the best wind in the bay. Good waves.	Apr 11, 2012 5:30 PM
102	Newark Slough Launch Ramp. It is closest to my home and the marshes of Don Edwards Refuge, but it needs a kayak dock and better ramp as it gets slippery with mud and the ramp surface is broken so launching or getting out at low tide is difficult to impossible depending on personal strength.	Apr 11, 2012 5:06 PM
103	Coyote Point has the best amenities, ie good parking, fairly decent spots for rigging my gear and good wind.	Apr 11, 2012 3:24 PM
104	Lake Merced because that's the only one I use.	Apr 11, 2012 3:02 PM
105	Candlestick Park for easy parking and access, safe environment, good winds	Apr 11, 2012 2:56 PM
106	Pt. Isabel. Easy rigging, easy launch and I love sailing off Brooks Island. Some week ends parking is impossible.	Apr 11, 2012 2:41 PM
107	Third ave...easy access...easy extraction when things go wrong	Apr 11, 2012 2:26 PM

108	I love Albany Beach. The view of the Golden Gate bridge is awesome!	Apr 11, 2012 2:01 PM
109	Crissy Field; because the views are amazing, the risk of heading outside the golden gate adds to the adrenaline level, and the public loves to watch us kiteboarding - I get to pretend I'm way cooler than I really am	Apr 11, 2012 1:44 PM
110	Crissy Field - easy in & out with lots of room. Love not having to worry about other boats when you first launch	Apr 11, 2012 1:24 PM
111	Crissy, it is beautiful.	Apr 11, 2012 1:06 PM
112	Next to HS Lordships in Berkeley. Close to the windline; just needs better steps.	Apr 11, 2012 12:55 PM
113	Al viso it is easy to acess and launch there.	Apr 11, 2012 12:30 PM
114	FAVORITE LAUNCH SITE: Berkeley Marina: South Sailing Basin: Launch from Small Craft Docks REASONS: For windsurfing, it is my favorite because of: 1. Peers to sail with, 2. Great Rigging Area, 3. Relatively close to my home	Apr 11, 2012 12:14 PM
115	Candlestick Park. I windsurf every weekend out there all summer long. I've done it for 20 years. It is a beautiful place that many people enjoy.	Apr 11, 2012 11:29 AM
116	Crissy Field. Its EPIC views and strong wind/swell conditions make it a favorite of mine.	Apr 11, 2012 11:27 AM
117	Third Avenue. Good wind conditions and close to home.	Apr 11, 2012 11:21 AM
118	East 3rd ave due to access from the freeway and wind consistency.	Apr 11, 2012 10:53 AM
119	Chrissy. Wonderful sailing on the bay next to the City. Nice conditions too.	Apr 11, 2012 10:06 AM
120	Berkeley Marina near His Lordships. Close to the windline when windy and close to home. No freeway travel required. Last year was there at least 75 days during spring, summer and fall.	Apr 11, 2012 9:52 AM
121	Berkeley Marina. Close to home, favorable winds, good water, fun, one of Northern California's best small boat launches.	Apr 11, 2012 9:36 AM
122	Crissy Field. Lots of parking, close by, sandy launch, consistent wind	Apr 11, 2012 9:31 AM
123	3rd Ave in Foster City for great windsurfing, location convenient to me	Apr 11, 2012 9:26 AM
124	3rd Ave.	Apr 11, 2012 9:19 AM
125	Jack London aquatic	Apr 11, 2012 9:16 AM
126	Napa	Apr 11, 2012 9:10 AM
127	3rd Ave. because of closest proximity and most reliable wind	Apr 11, 2012 9:09 AM
128	Treasure Island, provides access to the areas of the Bay which offer unparalleled windsurfing and views.	Apr 11, 2012 8:55 AM

154	3rd Avenue	Apr 10, 2012 10:23 PM
155	3rd ave upper launch	Apr 10, 2012 9:57 PM
156	Crissy...Amenities, views, beach launch, great conditions for windsurfing.	Apr 10, 2012 9:54 PM
157	Crissy- the view	Apr 10, 2012 9:42 PM
158	Lake Merced and Treasure Island. Lake Merced because of it's easy access, and TI because of the local race festival and nice views.	Apr 10, 2012 9:40 PM
159	3rd Avenue San mateo, world class wind conditions for kiteboarding	Apr 10, 2012 9:34 PM
160	I wish I could say Lake Merced, but that was in the past where it was actually a beautiful and clean, pristine lake. Now, it looks like a green dump full of crap.	Apr 10, 2012 9:33 PM
161	Bair Island Aquatic Center	Apr 10, 2012 9:32 PM
162	Bair Island Aquatic Center in Redwood City. Close to home and excellent facilities for small boats.	Apr 10, 2012 9:29 PM
163	Chrissy field and 3rd ave	Apr 10, 2012 9:28 PM
164	Redwood City Wharf (Bair Island Aquatic Center), access to non-motorized boats (ie: dragon boat, outrigger canoes)	Apr 10, 2012 9:24 PM
165	I'm unsure.	Apr 10, 2012 9:21 PM
166	Coyote Point. I like it due to the fact that it is uncrowded, the swell is nice, and should something go wrong, you have 3rd Avenue downwind that can be used as an exit.	Apr 10, 2012 9:14 PM
167	Bias	Apr 10, 2012 9:09 PM
168	Crissy, challenging conditions, spectacular location, close to home.	Apr 10, 2012 9:01 PM
169	Oyster Point downwind to BIAC. The ramp isn't so friendly though at OP.	Apr 10, 2012 9:00 PM
170	3 Ave	Apr 10, 2012 8:56 PM
171	Crown beach Alameda	Apr 10, 2012 8:56 PM
172	Crissy field gives immediate access to the channel, and the wind with good amenities (Showers, grass rigging areas, parking.) Treasure island is a great location but needs upgrading of the amenities.	Apr 10, 2012 8:55 PM
173	East 3rd Avenue because of space and consistent winds.	Apr 10, 2012 8:52 PM
174	redwood City because it has parking and a large ramp to launch	Apr 10, 2012 8:44 PM

175	Matthew Turner park in Benicia	Apr 10, 2012 8:39 PM
176	BIAC, its pretty once you get past pin 21	Apr 10, 2012 8:36 PM
177	Redwood City / Bair Island Aquatic Center	Apr 10, 2012 8:34 PM
178	redwood city easy to get to and parking	Apr 10, 2012 8:28 PM
179	Crissy Field - For the water conditions and the view	Apr 10, 2012 8:20 PM
180	3rd Ave... Nice rigging area, pleasant bay trail with benches, (usually) ample parking	Apr 10, 2012 8:12 PM
181	Crissy field	Apr 10, 2012 8:05 PM
182	Third Avenue, because of the consistent wind.	Apr 10, 2012 7:59 PM
183	Albany Beach. Direct wind from the gate hits there regularly almost every day in the mid and late summer, there is a lot of space, a mostly empty parking lot to pump up and launch my kite, and not a lot of people.	Apr 10, 2012 7:51 PM
184	Marina bay gives me access to much more than any other sites	Apr 10, 2012 7:50 PM
185	Jack London Aquatic Center. It has access to protected (flat) water on the Oakland/Alameda estuary, as well as access to the Bay (Bayfarm/San Leandro and the Oakland Outer Harbor).	Apr 10, 2012 7:30 PM
186	Treasure Island. This site provides the best wind and sailing condition and is away from tankers. Also the sailing to Angel island is amazing.	Apr 10, 2012 7:22 PM
187	3rd ave	Apr 10, 2012 7:15 PM
188	Jack London Aquatic Center is my favorite because it is the home launch of my canoe club, O Kalani Outrigger CC.	Apr 10, 2012 7:10 PM
189	Alameda...nice long beach.	Apr 10, 2012 7:08 PM
190	Crissy Field, scenery and good wind.	Apr 10, 2012 7:08 PM
191	3rd ave.	Apr 10, 2012 7:07 PM
192	Coyote - wind, access and long season	Apr 10, 2012 7:04 PM
193	Alameda, Crown beach. good for kiting in all tides, LOTS of sand. Good-ish wind.	Apr 10, 2012 6:58 PM
194	crissy field because of the grass area	Apr 10, 2012 6:56 PM
195	3rd avenue. It's well situated, has good prevailing winds, relatively easy access, relatively low traffic, and few non participants in my sport so low number of conflicts since most people there are on the same page and aware of the safety hazards that exist.	Apr 10, 2012 6:50 PM

196	Sherman Island, Bathrooms available and warm water. Showers would be great!	Apr 10, 2012 6:39 PM
197	Shimano Park is favorite windsurf launch.	Apr 10, 2012 6:37 PM
198	Crissy Field. Easy beach launch.	Apr 10, 2012 6:33 PM
199	East Third Avenue Lack of riff-raff No need to deal with park closure times Great conditions, crowd	Apr 10, 2012 6:20 PM
200	I want to windsurf where there is the highest wind. Usually, a corridor of wind crosses the bay to the East Shore and I would like easy access.	Apr 10, 2012 6:19 PM
201	Crissy Field, Sherman Island	Apr 10, 2012 6:09 PM
202	east third ave	Apr 10, 2012 6:02 PM
203	3rd avenue , nice kiter community	Apr 10, 2012 5:55 PM
204	Crissy field because it is very close to home and wind is reliable.	Apr 10, 2012 5:55 PM
205	3rd ave as its the closest access point. Due to work I would prefer something more south than that, Moffet or Palo Alto would be right.	Apr 10, 2012 5:51 PM
206	1. 3rd Ave - close to home and great kite conditions 2. Crissy Field - scenic	Apr 10, 2012 5:37 PM
207	Crissy Field. Mindblowing scenery, technically challenging conditions on the water.	Apr 10, 2012 5:35 PM
208	Treasure Island because the windsurfing there is fantastic	Apr 10, 2012 5:31 PM
209	3rd ave	Apr 10, 2012 5:27 PM
210	Crissy Field - great wind, great natural beauty, plus some grassy area, restrooms, fresh water.	Apr 10, 2012 5:17 PM
211	easy launch and better wind	Apr 10, 2012 5:07 PM
212	The one next to the mariposa hunter's point yacht club because it is very safe and modern	Apr 10, 2012 5:06 PM
213	Berkeley Boat Ramp & His Lordships: most convenient site with minimal wind shadow and beautiful views of Golden Gate Bridge.	Apr 10, 2012 5:05 PM
214	Alviso, the only one i use.	Apr 10, 2012 5:01 PM
215	Treasure Island Great wind, good water quality, nice rampy chop, beautiful vistas, decent water access, running water to hose off, no kiteboarders, expert windsurfers only, good ramps off the fishing boats, exciting conditions, etc.	Apr 10, 2012 5:00 PM
216	Berkeley Marina, South basin, and Hs Lordships. Good rigging areas. Quick access to the Olympic circle sailing area.	Apr 10, 2012 4:49 PM
217	treasure island, best wind, and swell	Apr 10, 2012 4:46 PM

218	crissy field	Apr 10, 2012 4:44 PM
219	no preference	Apr 10, 2012 4:36 PM
220	3rd. Wind & accesability	Apr 10, 2012 4:35 PM
221	redwood city. it has a tremendous variety and access to many points for sculling	Apr 10, 2012 4:35 PM
222	3rd ave	Apr 10, 2012 4:35 PM
223	Coyote Point. Entrance to the water is easy when the Rip-Rap wall is not crumbling. The parking is plentiful. Great access to a large portion of the bay.	Apr 10, 2012 4:32 PM
224	Treasure Island. It has the most consistent wind in the summer. When other places have little or no wind, TI is cranking. The reduced access that we have had to TI since the Navy started the remediation process has made access significantly more difficult and restoring that would be a dream.	Apr 10, 2012 4:32 PM
225	Crissy Field, big beach, great views, water quality	Apr 10, 2012 4:22 PM
226	Berkeley. I sail with my friends.	Apr 10, 2012 4:21 PM
227	a4 pond sunnyvale - close to work and home. flat water. no crowds	Apr 10, 2012 4:20 PM
228	This is a very tough question. I kite at Alameda, Berkeley, Crissy, Ocean Beach, 3rd Ave, Albany, Stinson Beach, and Sherman Island. They all have there only feel and I love the variety of the bay area more than any one specific site. Also given that winds change though out the year, I visit all of them evenly.	Apr 10, 2012 4:17 PM
229	Crissy Field. Most beautiful windsurfing.	Apr 10, 2012 4:16 PM
230	Crown Beach Alameda, plenty of sand space	Apr 10, 2012 4:16 PM
231	Berkeley Marina and Pt. Isabel	Apr 10, 2012 4:14 PM
232	I like all three I chose as they offer convenient and local access to the bay launches I frequent and provide great scenery when out on the water.	Apr 10, 2012 4:13 PM
233	Alameda Crown Beach Memorial Park. Safe & easy entry, no obstructions, side on-shore wind	Apr 10, 2012 4:10 PM
234	Alameda, nicest launch, no booties needed, good facilities, good vibe, vehicle break-ins rare.	Apr 10, 2012 4:06 PM
235	deep	Apr 10, 2012 4:05 PM
236	Point Isabel. It offers both flatwater and swell windsurfing.	Apr 10, 2012 4:05 PM
237	Horseshoe cove. My canoe club is there, so our canoes are there and it has the most interesting and challenging water around.	Apr 10, 2012 3:57 PM
238	TREASURE IS. NE CORNER . IT HAS THE BEST WIND ACCESS IN THE COUNTRY	Apr 10, 2012 3:56 PM

239	Coyote Point - best combination of wind, waves and on-shore amenities.	Apr 10, 2012 3:47 PM
240	Treasure Island	Apr 10, 2012 3:44 PM
241	Third Ave new launch and old launch site because new site has best wind access but old site has more parking. Next favorite: Sherman Island on Sacramento River	Apr 10, 2012 3:43 PM
242	Coyote Point	Apr 10, 2012 3:41 PM
243	3rd ave. (west San Mateo bridge) best windsurfing in the Bay	Apr 10, 2012 3:34 PM
244	Albany Beach. Very easy to launch my kite from a leash attached to bumper of my truck. The unimproved parking lot is very forgiving with lots of space and the wide beach allows for all types of use without interference.	Apr 10, 2012 3:33 PM
245	Third ave/San Mateo	Apr 10, 2012 3:30 PM
246	colma creek and candlestick. best flat water windsurfing in the country.	Apr 10, 2012 3:28 PM
247	Coyote Point because of parking close to water, grass rigging, bathrooms, water/shower, shop and most of all - access to great conditions on the bay.	Apr 10, 2012 3:28 PM
248	Don Edwards Refuge I like the access to hunting areas so I can take juniors hunting.	Apr 10, 2012 3:25 PM
249	Crissy Field is one of the most scenic areas in the world, blessed by wind and currents that make it a beautiful and challenging location for kitesurfing, windsurfing and many other watercraft.	Apr 10, 2012 3:23 PM
250	His Loardships, Berkeley. Because it is right at the wind and is a short distance from rigging and parking.	Apr 10, 2012 3:22 PM
251	Crissy Field Most windy site	Apr 10, 2012 3:22 PM
252	Crissy - The challenges that come with kiting with tides and ever changing conditions.	Apr 10, 2012 3:21 PM
253	Anywhere off of Crown Beach due to proximity, safety and variety of water activities based off of weather conditions.	Apr 10, 2012 3:20 PM
254	3rd. ave	Apr 10, 2012 3:17 PM
255	3rd Ave because of good wind and good access and restrooms and good parking.	Apr 10, 2012 3:17 PM
256	3rd Ave. Best wind and swells combination	Apr 10, 2012 3:17 PM
257	crissy field - is very convenient with dramatic views	Apr 10, 2012 3:16 PM
258	Crissy Field, because it is close to home, has parking and a grassy rigging area, has a big sand beach, and is unbelievably beautiful.	Apr 10, 2012 3:15 PM

259	Alameda Crown Beach because it is a nice family-friendly sand beach with good weather, shallow and warmer water, frequent more gentle summer breeze and weak currents.	Apr 10, 2012 3:07 PM
260	Candlestick is the most reliable and safe site in San Francisco. It has relatively easy access, parking and showers and a large community of sailors. It could benefit enormously by a secondary (windsurfing) launching spot close to Sierra Point, closing the gap to Oyster point and Coyote.	Apr 10, 2012 3:05 PM
261	Vincent Park/Richmond Inner harbor/Marina Bay	Apr 10, 2012 3:03 PM
262	East 3rd ave. Close to my house with easy access.	Apr 10, 2012 3:02 PM
263	Treasure Island	Apr 10, 2012 2:59 PM
264	Emeryville Marina, except parking is a pain.	Apr 10, 2012 2:58 PM
265	Redwood City Marina, Close to me and safe	Apr 10, 2012 2:57 PM
266	3rd Avenue (San Mateo/Foster City)	Apr 10, 2012 2:56 PM
267	Coyote point, it has the best wind	Apr 10, 2012 2:55 PM
268	3rd Ave. Lots of other surfers -- a big community. Good wind. I know the spot well.	Apr 10, 2012 2:54 PM
269	Crissy Field. World class windsurfing an kiting spot in the middle of the greatest city on earth. Jaw droppingly beautiful scenery. Amenities are great (though showers need fixing - don't stay on).	Apr 10, 2012 2:50 PM
270	Crissy Field good wind and Beautiful & 3rd Ave San Mateo because the best wind in the bay and good swell during ebb. I love them both equally.	Apr 10, 2012 2:50 PM
271	Crissy Field, for the scenery	Apr 10, 2012 2:50 PM
272	Crissy Field for the grass lawns, showers, restrooms, and sand beach and plentiful parking	Apr 10, 2012 2:49 PM
273	3rd Avenue. Easiest windsurfing launch site closest to home.	Apr 10, 2012 2:49 PM
274	Alameda, access is easy	Apr 10, 2012 2:46 PM
275	3rd ave, by far (over 100 days in 2011), because of the consistency of the winds and the lack of heterogeneity of traffic on the water due to the bay depth there.	Apr 10, 2012 2:45 PM
276	Sherman Island launch, nice lawn for rigging and prepping, great sandy beach, nice facilities (restrooms, picnicing)	Apr 10, 2012 2:41 PM
277	Palo Alto	Apr 10, 2012 2:36 PM
278	Berkeley Marina/His Lordship's cove: Relatively easy access except for having to climb down the riprap. Best access to windline there.	Apr 10, 2012 2:35 PM

279	3rd Ave in San Mateo, as it's the best windsurfing site in the bay area!	Apr 10, 2012 2:34 PM
280	Berkeley Marina Regular winds and safe sailing site.	Apr 10, 2012 2:34 PM
281	Candlesitck. Always good wind. Launch area needs improvement	Apr 10, 2012 2:33 PM
282	Alviso. Free	Apr 10, 2012 2:31 PM
283	Treasure Island, best wind, swell and view	Apr 10, 2012 2:30 PM
284	crowne beach, Alameda. Cleanliness, weather, no dogs.	Apr 10, 2012 2:26 PM
285	E. 3rd ave - Proximity to work / after work.	Apr 10, 2012 2:26 PM
286	Crissey field -- site is nice San Mateo 3rd avenue -- wind quality (constant)	Apr 10, 2012 2:25 PM
287	Favorite launch site is Sherman Island County park and Little Baja road kite launch.	Apr 10, 2012 2:25 PM
288	3rd Ave, best winds	Apr 10, 2012 2:22 PM
289	Crissy Field. The sheer beauty of the place, and good wind.	Apr 10, 2012 2:21 PM
290	Crissy, the prettiest and most historic sights while on the water in the area.	Apr 10, 2012 2:19 PM
291	Behind Golden Gate Fields Racetrack b/c it is on my way home from work	Apr 10, 2012 2:18 PM
292	None apply	Apr 10, 2012 1:46 PM
293	Duck Hunting at Alviso or Moffett Field	Apr 10, 2012 1:13 PM
294	Kennedy Park, and my own dock at the Napa Yacht Club	Apr 10, 2012 1:10 PM
295	martinez...access to river	Apr 10, 2012 12:19 PM
296	Alviso, Because it is the closest to my house. But Redwood City has more options.	Apr 10, 2012 12:07 PM
297	Tomales Bay	Apr 10, 2012 11:31 AM
298	Horse Shoe Cove because it is not too crowded, has an easy beach launch close to parking, bathrooms and a restaurant/bar with a view of the water for post paddling debriefing.	Apr 10, 2012 11:21 AM
299	Horseshoe..because of options on where to go.	Apr 10, 2012 10:51 AM
300	Alviso. I am a duck hunter (without a boat) and relay on trail access for hunting opportunities.	Apr 10, 2012 10:49 AM
301	any site that would feed into an area that allows duck hunting	Apr 10, 2012 10:26 AM
302	Jarvis Landing... close to home.	Apr 10, 2012 10:23 AM

303	alviso marina, easy to get t, not crowded. nice ramp.	Apr 10, 2012 9:47 AM
304	Alviso because it is closest to me.	Apr 10, 2012 9:44 AM
305	Hyde Street pier, because it's a chance to row ariund alcatraz	Apr 10, 2012 9:25 AM
306	Martinez Marina. Closest.	Apr 10, 2012 9:16 AM
307	alviso, for waterfowl season	Apr 10, 2012 9:12 AM
308	Palo Alto for Windsurfing	Apr 10, 2012 8:51 AM
309	Alviso...it is free, easy to access, and for a fee you can access it on off hours	Apr 10, 2012 8:46 AM
310	Alviso. Finally. Close to home.	Apr 10, 2012 8:41 AM
311	Redwood City Marina, close to where we want to go	Apr 10, 2012 8:35 AM
312	Alviso because it is easy to launch and provides good access to south bay sloughs	Apr 10, 2012 8:24 AM
313	alviso	Apr 10, 2012 8:23 AM
314	Alviso	Apr 10, 2012 8:17 AM
315	Alviso Marina because it is closest to my house.	Apr 10, 2012 8:09 AM
316	Don Edwards because im usingn it for hunting and its close access	Apr 10, 2012 7:45 AM
317	Alviso: Close to Waterfowl Hunting Opportunitites	Apr 10, 2012 7:37 AM
318	Alviso launch- good facility	Apr 10, 2012 7:34 AM
319	Alviso	Apr 10, 2012 7:30 AM
320	alviso	Apr 10, 2012 7:25 AM
321	Redwood city. Its used less by others.	Apr 10, 2012 7:23 AM
322	alviso launch ramp. easy to get to waterfowl hunting areas	Apr 10, 2012 7:07 AM
323	Pond A5, it doesn't stink!	Apr 10, 2012 7:06 AM
324	alviso	Apr 10, 2012 7:04 AM
325	Palo alto bay lands - small, uncrowded	Apr 10, 2012 7:04 AM
326	I like China Camp because of the bathrooms, water for rinsing, and short boat carry, but it's not near enough to the places I usually want to paddle.	Apr 9, 2012 11:40 PM
327	Palo Alto has a nice dock, provides easy access to the bay, has a porta potty onsite and has a hose for equipment cleanup when we return. And we don't have to worry about speed boat traffic.	Apr 9, 2012 5:51 PM

328	horseshoe bay	Apr 9, 2012 2:46 PM
329	Jack London Square because of proximity to where I live.	Apr 9, 2012 9:18 AM
330	Trancas because it is near near my home in St. Helena	Apr 7, 2012 4:37 PM
331	Grand Avenue ramp in Alameda: I live in Alameda, so it's my go-to place! It has a concrete boat ramp, plus a fairly low dock for launching. It has a spacious parking lot, restroom and water fountain. It's well lit at night. Perfect!	Apr 7, 2012 12:30 PM
332	Alviso Marina	Apr 7, 2012 11:55 AM
333	Right now it would have to be Alviso because the facilities are decent (nice low dock for kayaks, stations for rinsing boats, free parking) and because you can kayak the slough both upslough and downslough. I find slough kayaking more interesting than the open water kayaking you can do from, say, the Palo Alto baylands.	Apr 7, 2012 9:49 AM
334	Hard to choose. Either Horseshoe Cove or Redwood City.	Apr 7, 2012 7:12 AM
335	Alviso marina, easy to use great facility, can go up or down slough	Apr 7, 2012 1:43 AM
336	tidewater	Apr 6, 2012 9:57 PM
337	Coyote Creek Entrance and Alviso Close proximity to home fun to Canoe	Apr 6, 2012 7:43 PM
338	Horseshoe Bay, Ft. Baker Close to ocean access, Angel Island, many challenging locations. Beautiful.	Apr 6, 2012 6:10 PM
339	9th Street Park, Benicia CA because that's where I live, it's easy and it's safe.	Apr 6, 2012 5:58 PM
340	Jailhouse Beach below San Quintin but the parking is a problem. the location is great for paddles in several directions on almost any tide.	Apr 6, 2012 5:10 PM
341	Berkeley Marina. It has the best scenery but it has the toughest conditions (end of the slot wind/chop).	Apr 6, 2012 4:24 PM
342	9th Street boat launch in Benicia, because there is plenty of dock space, ample parking, and nice places to walk and hang out nearby.	Apr 6, 2012 4:13 PM
343	Horse shoe cove is my favorite because there are so many places I can paddle to.	Apr 6, 2012 1:51 PM
344	South Bay Area and Don Edwards NWR for birding	Apr 6, 2012 1:25 PM
345	Berkeley as parking is easy and nearby	Apr 6, 2012 12:41 PM
346	Tiburon, because you can get to Angel island, Sausalito or other parkland, as well as the restaurants.	Apr 6, 2012 12:18 PM
347	No favorite	Apr 6, 2012 12:08 PM
348	Anywhere there is access is a favorite	Apr 6, 2012 11:29 AM

349	horseshoe cove	Apr 6, 2012 10:13 AM
350	New at this	Apr 6, 2012 9:49 AM
351	Chrissy Field. Ample parking, bathrooms, easy access, sand beach for launching.	Apr 6, 2012 9:14 AM
352	Horseshoe cove. Because you can access the sea and the bay equally well.	Apr 6, 2012 8:30 AM
353	Alviso Marina - close to home, easy to use, not too busy, tide doesn't get too low for kayaks.	Apr 6, 2012 7:40 AM
354	presidio yacht club for in or out the gate-needs potties!	Apr 5, 2012 10:51 PM
355	Horseshoe Cove. Good parking, excellent destinations from there, bar and restaurant for socializing afterwards.	Apr 5, 2012 10:14 PM
356	Alviso Marina - closest to home	Apr 5, 2012 10:02 PM
357	Jack London Sq aquatic park for ease of use and parking space availability	Apr 5, 2012 9:19 PM
358	Palo Alto Baylands- close to home	Apr 5, 2012 9:10 PM
359	Horseshoe Cove, it is just such a beautiful spot affording perfect access to one of the worlds most renowned paddling destinations, the Golden Gate.	Apr 5, 2012 8:54 PM
360	Big Break - the location is great, lot's of wildlife and not many motorboats. Downside- not being able to drop boats near launch makes it impossible for my disabled husband to kayak there with me.	Apr 5, 2012 8:54 PM
361	Horse Shoe Cove, access to ocean, Bay, panaramic views. Opportunity for challanging paddling.	Apr 5, 2012 8:54 PM
362	Dunphy Park, free & free parking	Apr 5, 2012 8:19 PM
363	none	Apr 5, 2012 7:34 PM
364	Horseshoe Cove - it's central, gorgeous, can lead to adventurous paddling, or tame.	Apr 5, 2012 7:27 PM
365	Pier 52, SF. It is close to my home. Otherwise Horseshoe because of its access to the Gate and AI.	Apr 5, 2012 7:03 PM
366	I paddle with the tides up and down the Alameda Estuary from Grand Street or Tidewater Boating Center more than anywhere else.	Apr 5, 2012 6:58 PM
367	under the Golden Gate Bridge Marin side beautiful	Apr 5, 2012 6:22 PM
368	Horseshoe Cove is ideal since you are in a sheltered cove, and can go in either current direction once you leave the cove	Apr 5, 2012 6:06 PM
369	crissy field bathrooms, safety, easy launch	Apr 5, 2012 5:58 PM

370	China Camp, from there I can branch out to where ever I want to go.	Apr 5, 2012 5:56 PM
371	Horseshoe cove	Apr 5, 2012 5:44 PM
372	Any in Marin Co.	Apr 5, 2012 5:40 PM
373	Horseshoe Cove Nearness to the GG Bridge, Angil Island, Tiburon & Sausalito	Apr 5, 2012 5:33 PM
374	the one that gets my kayak in the water	Apr 5, 2012 5:23 PM
375	Horseshoe Cove. Can go out the Gate, play at Yellow Bluff, over to Angel Island, along the Sausalito shoreline, and more. Nice place to practice rescues and rolls. The PYC bar, after.	Apr 5, 2012 5:17 PM
376	horseshoe, protected beach to launch, no dock to bother with, easy, ample free parking, close to Angel island and close to the Marin Headlands for "rockgarden coastal paddling". Yacht club at the launch site with food and beer for after paddling.	Apr 5, 2012 5:16 PM
377	Horseshoe Cove - because there is always FREE parking available where you can park for as long as you want and easy access to the water without gates / crossing roads with kayaks, other obstacles.	Apr 5, 2012 5:03 PM
378	Horseshoe cove	Apr 5, 2012 5:03 PM
379	Palo Alto because it is closest	Apr 5, 2012 4:49 PM
380	Schoonmaker Point, Sandy Beach, bathroom easy access, parking	Apr 5, 2012 4:47 PM
381	Schoonmaker Beach, Sausalito	Apr 5, 2012 4:42 PM
382	Horseshoe cove is my favorite because it gives access to most interesting destinations (in the bay and outside it). It is also nice with the nearby yacht club where you can take a beer after a day on the water.	Apr 5, 2012 4:16 PM
383	Encinal boat ramp because it is only 15 minutes from home.	Apr 5, 2012 4:13 PM
384	Crissy Field - free parking, room to park, bathroom, surfer shower	Apr 5, 2012 3:12 PM
385	South beach. Most hospitable to people with disabilities.	Apr 5, 2012 12:44 PM
386	lock lomond; dynamic location, traffic low walkable community and when the City of San Rafael approves development the quality of said launch will increase dynamically and quality low cost cost housing with a Family entrenched educational park will be developed. When this opens here; pack my bags here I go!	Apr 5, 2012 12:08 PM
387	Turney Street Boat Ramp because it is convenient and provides direct access to the Bay	Apr 5, 2012 11:19 AM
388	Big Break - close to home	Apr 4, 2012 3:05 PM

155	Berkeley Marina - there is a small spot I believe for windsurfers to launch from, but nothing for kites. It is a very large location (especially considering Cesar Chavez park), and in particular, the NW corner or Cesar Chavez would be perfect for a kite launch, as there is a lot of empty land there that is not frequented very often by pedestrians, is also far from the burrowing owl habitat in the NE, and receives excellent, consistent wind. If there was just a small section set aside for rigging kite/windsurf equipment and a little poured concrete path down the rip rap, it could be one of the best (small capacity) locations to launch from in the East Bay. 54	I moved from Europe to the Bay Area 7 years ago and was super excited about being able to enjoy the bay. However, I was extremely disappointed with how difficult it is to access the bay and the incredibly small number of launch sites. I am a big proponent for protecting the bay, but I cannot think of a good reason as to why we would restrict so much access to non-motorized sports like kiteboarding, windsurfing, sailing, kayaking, SUP. I would love to help out in anyway I can. Feel free to contact me via email.	Apr 10, 2012 9:11 PM
55	Screw that company that was dumping into the bay at Redwood City.	Apr 10, 2012 9:04 PM
56	Leave large areas for duck hunters to hunt in, they paid big dollars to keep wild life areas open like the bay marhes from contrubtions made over 100s of years.	Apr 10, 2012 8:54 PM
57	Just wanted to add that as a kitesurfer, there is a huge area where I can, and want to, play (the entire Bay), but that I don't place many demands on the waterline/beach itself (I use the beach for 2-3 minutes before and after I ride), but, even so, my access to the Bay seems very limited, and it seems a shame. To get on the water in the east bay, I need to launch off of Pt Emery (frankly sketchy: high tide = tiny patch of plants to launch off of, and the bike path is directly downwind and not very far), or Albany Beach, and I launch IN the Racetrack parking lot... and that's it. It seems like there is an opportunity for a really great launch somewhere around the Berkeley Marina/Cesar Chavez park area, as that place gets super consistent wind, and has a lot of open space. But it is frustrating here - wanting to enjoy the bay, and having there be just two tiny places available to get there. It's like having a few hundred square mile Disney World with that's completely fenced off with the exception of a single turnstile.	Apr 10, 2012 8:05 PM

92	Some of the areas are getting over developed for use. After being on the bay for 40 years nature was doing a good job of re-claiming it. Nature will provide what is useful today as to human engineering of a past that no longer exists.	Apr 10, 2012 9:00 AM
93	Motorized boats are important for access to this tidal watershed as nonmotorized is not an option for most people because they lack the strength to safely navigate the waterways, especially when the tide changes against them to come back to the boat launch	Apr 10, 2012 8:53 AM
94	do not shut down traditional hunting areas to open up water trails	Apr 10, 2012 8:32 AM
95	My worry with more access to non-motorized boats into the sloughs and other areas outside of the bay is the potential interference with duck hunters and non-motorized boat users. As a duck hunter myself it would worry me if I were set up in a slough and a kayaker or someone in a canoe paddled into the area I am set up and I shoot a duck not aware that someone is nearby. This could cause a safety issue. It would be nice to make non-hunters aware that there maybe duck hunters in the area and to use caution when navigating the sloughs.	Apr 10, 2012 8:16 AM

118	Yes. Many people who have a disability and have never gone kayaking may feel intimidated by this questionnaire because they don't have any background relating to accessible boating and accessible design of gangways and boat docks. Because they might be intimidated, they might not fill out the questionnaire, allowing us to assume that there is no interest in the Water Trails within the disability community.	Apr 5, 2012 11:27 AM
